

ETHICS MINOR

Department: World Languages and Cultures (<https://catalog.bradley.edu/undergraduate/liberal-arts-sciences/world-languages-cultures/>)

Faculty: Professors Kelley (chair), Oliver; Associate Professor Zabrowski

The ethics minor at Bradley is administered by the Department of World Languages and Cultures. The program in ethics is designed to provide a methodologically and theoretically grounded curriculum in ethical studies. The program will challenge students to deepen their thinking about ethics through multiple approaches drawn from philosophy and religious studies. Students electing an ethics minor will select an advisor from the participating Ethics minor program faculty to guide them in choosing 15 credit hours of courses in ethics. Where appropriate, the curriculum will include the opportunity to study ethics in the context of a student's major.
